

Why do we care about western rivers?

Brewers know that an adequate and reliable water supply is critical to their craft. Audubon members know that it is critical to healthy rivers, habitats, birds, and other wildlife.

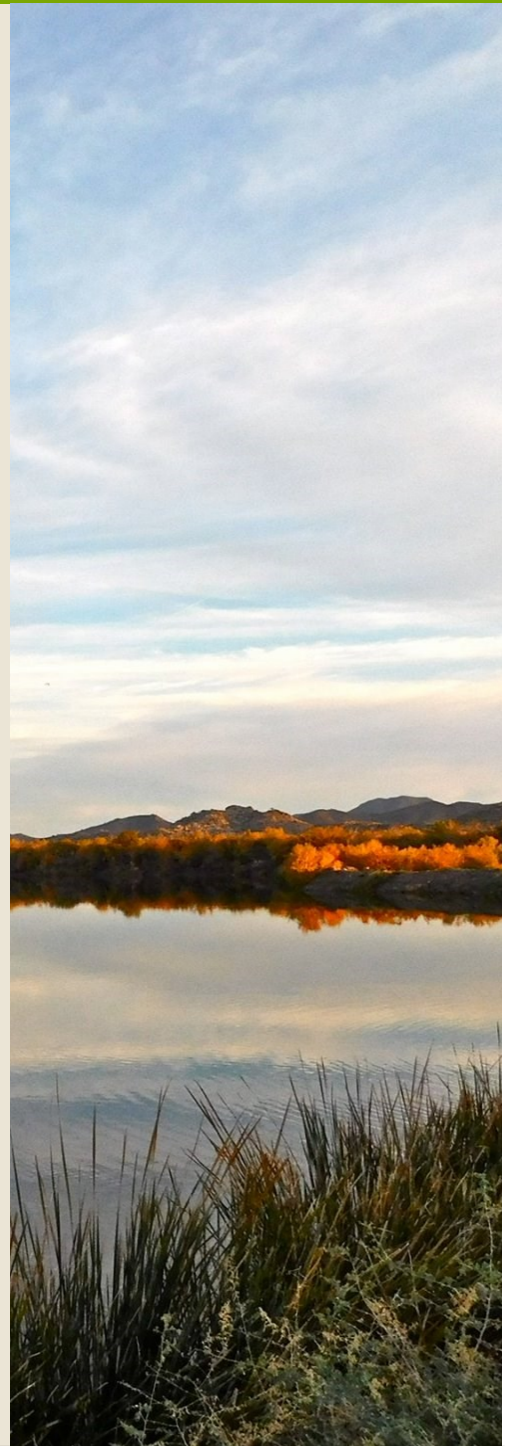

By taking action together, we can help protect rivers and all they support throughout Arizona and the Colorado River Basin.

By joining the Western Rivers Brewers' Council, you will...

- be a visible supporter of sustainable water management and healthy rivers
- have opportunities to market to Audubon's 35,000 Western Rivers Action Network (WRAN) members and to Audubon's broader statewide, regional, and national base
- be able to showcase your work conserving water and protecting habitat
- network with like-minded breweries
- be asked to assist with WRAN calls-to-action (sign-on letters, sharing on-line alerts, etc.)

To learn more or join, contact Steven Prager at sprager@audubon.org

The National Audubon Society protects birds and the places they need, today and tomorrow, throughout the Americas using science, advocacy, education, and on-the-ground conservation.

Learn more about Audubon - audubon.org

Learn more about WRAN : <http://www.audubon.org/conservation/project/western-rivers>

Learn more about the Brewer's Council: <http://bit.ly/WRANbrewers>